Catchin" the Eye

As the student body entered the Kankakee Valley High School premises on August 22, they were immediately face to face with a new looking school. Parking places had been numbered and assigned. Temporary wall blocking the foreign language hallway had vanished along with the construction workers and any other traces of the fire. Doors to the auditorium were reopened for class and club meetings. Newly finished stage hosted programs and dramas that hypnotized viewers. Football fans from any position in the stands were able to see the new eye catching score board and its flashing lights. Angelee Abbring was the first to ever make the 2nd team All-State Volleyball Team in school history, also making history a female Megan Hartzler played on the football team as an extra point kicker. From local TV station channel 56 to area newspapers, headlines shouted Kankakee Valley: The school that Northwestern Indiana was lookin' at.

Putting in Time

Spending five days a week, 180 days a year from 8 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. or beyond inside the classroom students totaled 1305 hours of hands on learning. Outside the classroom students tallied another 720 hours at practice which began as early as 6 a.m. and concluded as late as a 2 a.m. band trip. It didn't take students very long to realize that they spent more time on school grounds than they thought. Whether dragging in at 8 a.m. on Monday or sprinting through the double doors after the final bell at 3:15 p.m. on Friday, students had a week full of anticipated tests and homework. Throughout the day the halls were filled with slamming lockers, shuffling feet, and common conversation. Students were always catching the "word" from classmates. Most important were the words "The busses are coming" which meant early release for the day and teens lookin' for excitement and freedom.

OPENIN' DOORS

From shy freshmen to outgoing seniors opportunity was exploding. New electives were added to the curriculum opening doors to the future. Students interested in the health field were offered Anatomul Physiology and Medical Terminology. Building Trades offered on the job training as they built their first house in Quail Run. Senior girls competed for scholarships in the Jr. Miss Program won by Brooke Spurgeon. Freshmen were faced with high school level competition in athletics and academics for the first time. Sophomore Lisa Groet won the Hugh O'Brian Award. Seniors' Lugar campaign trail fieldtrip to New Hampshire was approved by the school board. Soccer was added as an extra curricular club. The varsity cheerleading squad traveled to Houston where they placed 7th in a national competition. All in all opportunity was what the students were lookin' at all year.

Teens Equal Spirit

During the school year there were 505 opportunities in which students could participate. These activities gave the teens a chance to develop their skills.

With all the different activities came a way to display on t-shirts that showed when the plays were that the drama students wore or the shirt FCA sold to raise money for the club.

With all these activities students were given a chance to participate or cheer on the group to show that they also had school spirit. From actors to athletes this was what we were lookin at.

Magic Kingdom reigned October 2-6. Dress-up days included Clash and Bad Hair, Walt Disney, Role Reversal, Jersey, and the traditional Red and White Day.

Fourth hour classes had a door decorating contest and a book collection held by the media center. Every book that was brought in was worth a point. The student body turned in approximately 1500 books to the media center. "It thought it was very successful," said Mr. McAtee. When points were totaled and added to the class points from the door decoration and the homecoming cheer, the winners were chosen. Mr. Gray, Mrs. Mckinney, and Mr. Norwing's classes were the winners.

New also was the swim team's teacher in the Kougar suit contest. Voting took place in the Kave during the lunches on Thursday and Friday. Cost was $0.25 or 5 votes for a $1.00. Clues led students to the mystery teacher, Mrs. Prochno, whose identity was revealed at the nep session.

When Mrs. Prochno was supposedly doing the flips at the pep session, it was actually Justin Hildebrand. "Without the help of Justin there would not have been a flipping Kougar at the pep session. Justin Hildebrand was excellent and cooperative working with us. He was a great success," said Mr. Hamilton. During the pep session, Mrs. Prochno drew Dawn Albertson's name from all the people who voted. She won a pair of tickets to the Homecoming game. "I thought it was neat that we had such a program and was happy to get the free tickets to the Homecoming game," said Dawn Albertson.

Homecoming crown was passed to Jenelle Bailey at halftime of the Homecoming game. "I was real surprised and honored to be it (Homecoming Queen)" said Jenelle Bailey. "I was very surprised to be picked as Homecoming Representative for the Senior class," said Keri Spurgeon.

In the hall decorating contest, Juniors came in first place, Seniors came in second place, followed by the Sophomores and Freshmen.

Football moms surprised players by being their sons/daughter 'mystery kisser.' Spirit stick was given away through a skit with Mrs. Steiner as Valley Girl Veronica. Ms. Benham as Tripping Tina, and Mr. Apple as Ned the Nerd. 'Homecoming was an exciting night that I was happy to be part of. My friends made me feel really special, and I had a great time because of them,' said Kati Abbring.

A parade was held for Homecoming. Environmental Action Club, Foreign Language Club, Color Guard, Band, Cheerleaders, Football Team, as well as the class floats and the teachers participated in the parade. Despite the gray and gloomy weather, the parade was attended by about 200 people.

Turning cheese and sausage into magical moments was the annual focus for Sunshine members. "One Sweet Day" took place December 16 in the high school cafeteria from 8:00 to 11:00 pm.

Colors for the evening were red, gold, and green, which were voted on by members. The unique thing about the Sunshine dance was that the girls asked the guys.

In most cases, the girls took care of the whole thing, including the check. Out of 337 members, 212 couples attended. The music by B & B Music DJ's played a wide variety of styles attempting to satisfy the audience.

When asked, "What did you like best about Sunshine?". Helen Hicks said, "Sunshine was a blast! I loved seeing everyone dressed up. Going out to eat was pretty cool too." Jason Bailey said, "I had fun because I got to dance with Katie Oatis and Holly Bristol. It was pretty groovy. They both danced pretty cool."

Jan Hart said, "I had a great time going out to dinner and spending my senior year of Sunshine with all my close friends."

Getting ready for Prom took a long time, with all of the planning and arrangements taking approximately five months. "It's been a lot of work but it's been worth the effort," said Princess Rachel Kaper. "It's my first Prom, I'm excited, the Prom scene is very romantic, and I know that I'll have a good time with my boyfriend, Jimmy," said Ambies Serocinski.

"Because You Loved Me" by Celine Dion entired 406 dancers in the Prom's Garden Paradise. It was held on May 18 at the Valpo Expo Center. Doors opened at 5:30 pm and closed at 11:30 pm. Tickets ranged from $40 to $50. The photographer was Wahlberg's. For the Prom dinner there was a buffet of turkey, salid, and vegetables along with green punch.

Students had the option of purchasing glasses, mugs, and keychains. Decoration Committee along with many others asked all Juniors to bring scissors, plants, ladders, staplers, and lights to the Valpo Expo Center at 9am on May 18 to help with setup.

To remind students that drinking and driving do not mix, EMTs held a Crash Dummy presentation in the auditorium where they showed movies that represented the deaths of many due to drinking and driving accidents. Along with the movies, students were taken outside where the Crash Dummies, Mr. Apple, Mr. Willetts, Mrs. Steiner, Jenni McAtee, and Ryan Armstrong presented the students with a presentation that acted as a real accident scene although it was just a reinactment. "I think the program worked very well. A lot of students came out talking, but when we sent them back in, most of them were somber," commented EMT Bobbi Hilton.

Junior court was Rachel Kaper (Princess), Ryan Myers (Prince), Jeff Lauritis, Hallie Apple, Kori Smith, Jen Peo, and Jacob Rhoder.

Two hundred and twenty four graduates took their first step into their future on June 2 at 2 pm.

Valedictorians were Corine Tachtiris and Kristine Hoffman. Salutatorian was Brook Kozak. Class motto was "Commencement does not just mean graduation; it means a new beginning." Class flower was a rose that was given to each graduate by a member of the Junior class. Class colors were red worn by females and black worn by males. Class soonsors were Pat Price and Kristi Slaby.

Speeches were made by Corine Tachtiris, Kristine Hoffman, Brook Kozak, and class president Janice Hart. Senior class officers were Janice Hart-President, Brooke Spurgeon-Vice President, Charleen Johnston-Secretary, and Renee Meracle-Treasurer. Members of the school board along with administrators watched as the graduates received their diplomas.

As tears flowed and smiles were exchanged by many, graduates joined the concert band in the musical selection of Irish Tune From County Derry and In the Mood performed by the jazz band. Senior Choir members also performed the choral selection Friends.

Tassle turning was led by Dr. Brett Lewis, superintendent. Graduates were led out of the gym by retiring assistant superintendent Wayne Ryska.

Through tears and joy, the 224 graduates united to create a new beginning to life: their future careers.

CAPTURE the EYE

Sitting in first hour, students wondered what the rest of the day was going to bring. For some this meant leaving the school to work on a house or creating a building for Industrial Technology. While the child development classes were sharing crying babies with Rensselaer High School, the sophomores were creating writing portfolios for graduation, and students were using new computers in the business department. The rest of us were learning the basics of arithmetic and English. No matter what the day brought, there was a new adventure catching the eye, preparing us for the world. Classes gave us an insight of what we were up against. From geometry to economics, this is what we were lookin' at.

Exploring

Your imaginative side by creating artwork

Printmaking, ceramics, drawing, painting, photography, fibers, design, were just a few of the offerings in the art department. In addition to class, students participated in Valparaiso University's First Secondary School Showcase, and Project XL.

Printmaking required students to cut designs into different pieces of material that they saw with their own souls and minds. "It gives me a chance to use my imagination," said Jill Gillen.

They scraped out the designs with anything that they found to get the textures and patterns they wanted. When they were done, they painted over them with different colored paint. Craig Robbins said, "It's my first Art class, It's fun!, Tim Wiers agreed. Cleaning up was easy. They just wiped the area up and washed the paint off.

In Ceramics, with Mrs. Miller, students worked with their hands molding and patterning clay into pots, howls, and whatever else their eyes saw. Chris Hiedi said, "It lets my mind wander." After 24 hours or less in the kiln, the artwork was ready for use.

As the head of the Fine Arts department Mrs. Miller helped 21 students enter 25 works of art in the Valparaiso University's First Secondary School Showcase, KV had seven finalists. Chris Heide's water color Flower Bowl, and Jimmy Stamper's drawing The Welders, Kevin Adamezyk's photo Fantasyland, Randy Allen's photo Bale of Bricks, Josh Robinson's ceramics Rovers Bowl, Shannon Evans Fish Study were all finalists.

Secondly, Miss Benham sponsored Project XL, which "Was an equal opportunity to express our personal interest." Winners received $1500 college scholarships. Kevin Zukley's "Faceless Pain and Emotion" made it to round two.

"BAND . . . PARADE REST" WAS JUST ONE OF THE MANY COMMANDS heard By the Marching Kougars. Their season started in the second week of June. Throughout the summer, band students spent three nights a week at rehearsals. In the second week of August, band camp started. Being at school from 9 am to 5 pm was a normal day for band and marching guard students.

'Two Romantique Symphony's,' the theme of their show, included Tchivkosky's symphony #5 and Bruckner's symphony #4. Starting the first weekend in September the band and guard traveled and competed for four consecutive Saturdays. These contests included Bremen, Concord, Chesterton, Penn, North Judson, and districts. Also, they appeared in the Touch of Dutch parade in DeMotte and the Popcorn Festival parade in Valparaiso. "Marching band went pretty good for our first year. Leaving school at 6 am and not returning until 3 am was tiring, but worth it," said Dana Clark.

'Going from performing the halftime shows at the Kougar football games to pepping up the crowd at the basketball games was a nice change," said Kimmy Woods. Playing tunes from "The Blues Brothers" to the Latin tune of "Oye Coma Va" to the classic pep band tunes of "Eye of the Tiger" and "Louie Louie" really kept the crowds spirits high during pre-game and halftime.

The first time in three years, winter guard made their appearance at several IHSCGA (Indiana High School Color Guard Association) invitationals and contests. Their show consisted of two Irish songs with the theme of "Irish Moons and Celebrations."

Winter guard, a lot different than marching guard, required more physical endurance and stamina. It was more of a creative movement and dance program. Their season went through December to March. During that time they competed at Fairfield, Sheridan, Kokomo Taylor, Chesterton, and at districts.

"Going from performing the halftime shows at football games to pepping up the basketball crowd was a nice change."

Relieving sizes and pressure of the performance ahead. Kimen Woods, Michele Smith, Jennifer Allen, Barb Yaeger, and Helen Hicks dance their way to the Penn invitational.

music while showing success; high spirits

WHEN THE CONCERT SEASON STARTED NO ONE KNEW where it would take the band. Their first performance took place on December 11 and carried the concert season through June 2. For the first time in 13 years, concert band competed at ISSMA and received a first division rating. A big fundraiser for the concert band was the first spaghetti dinner that has now become an annual event. Twenty-six students attended district solo/ensemble contest. Nine of those qualified to go on and compete at state contest.

Not only were things looking up for the concert band, jazz band was moving right up along side it. Jazz band performed over 20 concerts. Starting them off was ISSMA Jazz Contest where they received a division one for the first time in six years. Next show was the River Forest Festival of Jazz, at which only the schools with the best jazz bands are invited to perform. Not only were they playing around Indiana, they also made a trip to Chicago. There they performed the "Tunes at Noon" show at DePaul University Music Center. The Big Band Bash took place on May 10. This has become the annual jazz fundraiser. It consisted of three hours of music. Featuring some of the old songs like In the Mood and Moonlight Serenade to more ments" contemporary songs like Tears in Heaven and Gimme Some Lovin.

Recognizing outstanding band members for some of their accomplishments took place at the band awards banquet May 21. Eight senior plaques were awarded for being in band all eight semesters. They were received by Al Tachtiris, Jessy Stueben, Heather Stueben, Dennis Ramsey, Jed Gapp, Nicky Walstra, Matt Gluth, and Barb Yae-

"CHOIR IS A GREAT WAY TO SING IN A GROUP, but there are also many opportunities to excel in personal achievement such as solo and ensemble and all state choir." said junior Jason Bakker.

After 23 years of experience the choir director Mr. Darnell said, "Choir is only as good as the weakest member. The concert choir is much stronger this year because of maturity and having all members in class together." He also thought that the treble choir was stronger because of some upper class leaders and a strong freshman class.

There were many different choirs available in high school. Some of these programs were treble choir, men's choir, concert choir, and even swing choir. Swing choir was a sing and dance extra-curricular activity. Treble was offered to all the grades. "Treble Choir was fun because some of the songs we sang related to in our life." said Danae Bailey.

From these programs a student could also get involved in choral fest and solo and ensemble. All-State choir participants included Keri Spurgeon, Sara King, Sarah Kreischer, Kendra DeVries, Lynn Hamstra, Jason Bakker, and Josh Fernandez. "Choir lets you express your natural ability to sing, and you can have fun." said Chrissy Thoma-

Students and parents enjoyed the "POP" Concert on October 24. and the Christmas Concert on December 17. On March 8, 44 members of the concert choir participated in Choral Fest, which was held in Denver, Indiana. Choral Fest combined 10 school choirs to form one huge choir which practiced during the day and put on a concert in the evening.

There were 108 students in choir who sang their way into the future.

Produces unity; pride in yearbook staff

WHETHER NEW OR OLD, THE YEARBOOK STAFF relearned how to become a family and learned to work together as a team and not as individuals. Even though they really didn't have much in common, they learned through the year, that they all did have one thing in common and that one thing was yearbook

Learning how to produce a yearbook and all the work that came with it, was a whole new story for staff members. New member Susannah Rawlins said this, "It's hard, I hate deadlines and Mrs. McKinney is tough on us, but I'm learning a lot'

Who was going to take care of what? In the end it was all decided. Keri Spergeon, and Melaine Meyer were elected co-editors, while the other experienced members were put in charge of divisions. Sheri Veldman was put in charge of mugs division, while Barb Yaeger ran Academies, Tricia Cusack organized the Clubs division, and Amy Chester eoordinated Activities. As soon as this was decided the process of creating a yearbook began.

In September, the Yearbook staff along with the Newspaper staff went out and sold ads, "Ad's Day was great! Without the help of the eommunity, we wouldn't have a yearbook'', said Amy Wiers.

On October 11 and 12, two returning members of the yearbook staff, Amy Chester and Tricia Cusaek along with the newspaper staff attended the Indiana High School Press Association Conference at Franklin College. Students competed in on-site competition and went to learning sessions, on ereating a better yearbook. At the yearbooks award luncheon, Kim Jakich won a second place Harvey award for photography. Also, Matt Niemiller won a second place Harvey award for Art Design. During on-site competition Tricia Cusack, earned a third place award for Student Life Design. Back home the staff got ready for student pictures on September 12, along with Club Picture

During the end of the month of January and in the beginning of February, the staff went out for three days to observe elasses and record quotes. As each day went by the staff members went through new levels of stress to finish the yearbook, entitled "Whatcha' Lookin At?

"I enjoy being in vearbook for the satisfaction vou get when you see the finished book. I also like the way we are close to one another.'' Melanie Myer co-editor.

Encourages students to create quality newspaper

NEWSPAPER STAFF WENT TO FRANKLIN COLLEGE for The Journalism state competition on Thursday, October 12 and Friday, October 13, Jimmy Stamper took second place in editorial cartooning. Corine Tachtiris won second in sports writing. Staff members attended competitions as well as educational sessions that provided some help to the staffers for their future newspapers. Kim Jakich, Stephanie Bell. Sam Crawford, Laura Fox, and John Lerner also attended.

On September 19, newspaper members went to assigned areas of Demotte and Wheatfield to sell advertisements. Without the help of the community there would have been less funding and advertisements which makes the community an essential part of the newspaper program.

New for the newspaper staff was the computer pagination program (Aldus Pagemaker 5.0) which allowed members to make creative headlines and copy. They had meetings and parties which brought the staff together. Without togetherness it is very hard to produce a great newspaper. Meetings and learning from a variety of people was what helped to make the newspaper prosper.

"We spend lots of time on the newspaper, in fact, we sometimes stay until 8 or 9 o'clock at night so we can produce a school paper. We respect each other, and that is why we are able to cooperate to get a newspaper done. This helps make us be a newspaper family," said Kimberly Jakich.

When asked why she took journalism for two years Laura Fox replied, ""Last year (my 1st year of journalism) was a lot of fun, I enjoyed going on the trips (Franklin College and San Diego) and the Journalism family atmosphere. You interact with more people in this class than in any other class I can think of because it is easier to learn. You can work at your own pace and everyone shares his/her opinion. It is really a great learning experience.

When Allison Fase was asked why she took journalism for four years she replied, "I have decided to pursue a career in the journalism field. After taking the class the first year. I really enjoyed my job as Managing Editor, and I decided to go into Advertising." Corine Tachtiris was the editor for The Spirit and a four year member.

"Being editor can be challenging, but it has caused me to improve my organizational leadership, and people skills."

Spirit, mind, body in Physical Education

PART PHYSICAL, PART MENTAL. IN THIS CLASS freshmen got away from the regular paced sit-down, read, and do homework classes. Instead, they got to use their strength abilities, and their minds.

Every day the students had to stretch with a regular routine of calisthenics, which were jumping jacks, toe touches, grass pickers, sit and reach, sit-ups, push-ups, and freshman Noelle Wiltfang's favorite, stair laps.

Freshmen played quite a line up of sports and activities. flag football, swimming, soccer, volleyball, floor hockey, pickleball, basketball, tumbling, softball, tennis, badminton, weight training, field hockey, and physical fitness testing. They worked on improving already known skills, and also learned about new sports. Not only were they taught the rules of the games, but also how to play them. Mr. Greenlee felt that the participation and the competition levels were higher at the start of the second semester.

They were also given written tests on each activity, but Adam Hebda said he liked playing the games better than taking the tests.

Another important aspect of Physical Education was Health, which was a half semester course for sophomores. It was a class that taught sophomores about proper diets and how to take care of themselves to be able to live healthy and long lives. Sophomore Racheal Woods said that Health taught her the short term and also the long term effects of many things, and that over all Health was a pretty good class.

Health and Physical Education were very closely related, and sophomore Faith Fritts felt that you need them both.

SCIENCE . . . WHAT IS SCIENCE? SCIENCE IS everything from Biology I to AP Physics. Identifying organisms, understanding chemical reactions, and calculating density were just a few of the many challenges that science students encountered. Science department, comprised of 16 different classes was taught by seven teachers. To meet state graduation requirements students had to take a biology and a physical science course. Some went a little farther and took the seience classes for the Academic Honors Diploma. Working even harder, some students excelled by taking Advanced Placement and honors courses. Sam Crawford said, "I took Honors Biology because I want to get into a good college, and I heard the program here was really

Physics students studied density, velocity, and motion. They constructed bridges made of toothpicks and mouse trap cars which created a hands on learning experience. "I took Physics because I want to major in Engineering. I felt that it would prepare me for the level of physics I would take in college", said Ericka Dreesen.

Microbiology and mammology studied the anatomy of different animals. To show the students a comparative anatomy to humans, they dissected pigs.

Chemistry studied atoms and physical properties of elements. The students performed labs to demonstrate activities that take place in chemical reactions. During the Christmas season they made candy eanes and peanut brittle.

Students with various science background competed February 17 in the Science Olympiad at St. Joseph's College. The events ranged from the Bio Process Lab to the Science of Fitness. The team captured 4 firsts, 9 seconds, 3 thirds, and I fourth place. The Olympiad team earned fourth place overall.

their way into the future

TECHNOLOGY IS DEFINED AS "THE SYSTEM BY which a society provides its members with those things needed or desired." Technology is a lot more than just building tables or welding two plates together. It is very hard work that requires precise measurements and calculations. One of the welding projects done by senior Tim Wells and junior Paul Sherman was to refurbish a caboose for the Monon Railroad Historical Technical Society Inc. Some of the other projects were a go-cart, hose holders and a fire cabinet.

Some of the wood shop classes did a refinishing project and also spent a lot of time on safety. After that they began an eleven week project making a table. They had to draw out everything before they started cutting. They also had to sand it down, drill holes and glue pieces of it together. In two classes they built eight little model houses inside the school. They built the smaller versions of the house to get them ready to build the real house. As a side project the wood shop made some of the Prom decorations like the pillars, the arch and the gazebo.

In the drafting area first and second year students did freehand drafting with paper and pencil. Third and fourth year students made two-dimentional pictures on the computer. The advanced drafting course did three-dimensional pictures on the Autocad (automated computer assisted design). "The reason they look so real is because they are three dimensional." said Mr. Hine. Greg Sharp won the design contest which was held to come up with a deck design for the technology building trades house. Mr. Inman's agriculture students landscaped the new house on May 16. Open house was May 17-18.

From computers to sanders, from the hot metal to the drafting boards, students learned to survive in the world.

Building

Program succeeds to build new home

"BUILDING TRADES PROGRAM IS A GREAT EDUCATIONAL opportunity for anyone who is interested in the construction technology field. Many people do not realize the knowledge that is used in construction. This class teaches many skills which are helpful in mastering the construction trade. I would like to thank the corporation for bringing this class to our school system," said Larry Fugget.

In 1994, the students built a two car garage. They also built a small deck connecting the garage to the house. Last year their project was a livingroom/bathroom addition to an existing house where they had to match the new construction to the existing building. In 1995-96 located in the Quait Run Subdivision the '96 project was a house near the school which allowed the students to have more time for working on the house. Traveling to and from the house, setting up to work, and cleaning up can use up a great deal of time.

Each of these projects was built by approximately 22 students (the upper limit of the class). There are two classes for the program. They each are three hours long.

When the students started in the fall, all they had was a clearing in the wood. They had to position the house on the lot and allow space for setbacks and easements. They then laid out, dug, and poured the footings. Next, they laid the block for the foundation. Finally, came the carpentry work which is what many of the students were interested in.

They had to make every day count as far as production went because had weather came at any time, and they didn't have a roof over their heads which also left them with nowhere to go if had weather arrived. "The students worked very hard. Their knowledge of power tools which was the experience that many of them received in woods class helped them tremendously. What they lacked in experience, they made up for in enthusiasm," said Mr. Mulvihill.

Financing for the house came from Jasper County REMC. The lot on which the home was built was "loaned" by Jenkins Realty. The program spent a total of $90,000 on this project. The money will be paid back when the home is sold. KV Electric and Krooswyck Plumbing helped with the materials and guidance as the mechanical systems were installed. Heating and cooling system was done with a Geothermal system. By using this system it will only cost the owners between $200 and $300 to heat and cool the home per season. The drywall taping takes a long time to learn and some of this type of work was done on the garage project. Some of the masonry was done by the students. The carpet and vinyl flooring was not done by the program because these skills take a lot of practice to master the technique and mistakes can become costly.

On the first weekend of May an open house was scheduled during which Mr. Mulvihil took bids on the house. The class hoped to receive $112,000 which paid bills and left money for the new program.

As the house neared completion, the jobs became tedious and unenjoyable. "This gave them an idea of what the residential construction industry was really like," Mr. Mulvihill.

Focusing their attention on finishing the stain work is Josh Rohinson and Aaron Grandchamp.

Putting up the chimney frame is Larry Fuggett, Dan Grandchamp, and Mike Peo.

Working on priming the wall or Chris Nannenga.

Laying out the foundation for the home is a task that takes group work. Brett Parkis, Andy Opolski, Kyle Chapman, and Alan Valade work on the foundation.

KANKAKEE VALLEY OFFERS A variety of Home Economics courses. Students chose from courses varying from Foods to Child Development.

Students in Foods classes learned about food choices, nutrition, and basic cooking techniques. They also learned about adjusting to advancements in cooking technology.

Child development taught students how to care for young children. After completing one semester of child development, students put what they learned to use in a day care setting. Senior Nikki Kerns said "Vocational Child care helps everyone have a little more patience with each other on certain days." This setting allowed students to work along with parents and in doing so they learned effective parenting. Juniors Steph Hyatt and Megan Gentry said "Vocational child care is an experimental class about children, and it prepares us for the future."

The Housing class focused around aspects of interior design. This helped them increase their knowledge of Architecture. Students learned about available housing, different housing styles, and the basic principles of design. They learned how to arrange things inside and out in forms of interior design and landscaping.

Consumer living students experienced how to utilize different types of insurance. They also learned about making decisions in the marketplace.

CLICKING AND TAPPING WERE FAMILIAR SOUNDS IN BUSINESS. Although business did consist of more than typing, many things such as marketing, although and balancing a checkbook were taught. Hillary Molchan commented, "Business classes taught students how to work well with others." So business classes proved themselves to be more than just 'hands on."

For many students, business courses offered a taste of the real world. Dawn Albertson said. "Considering I have taken General and Administrative Office Labs throughout my high school career, I know from experience that these labs have prepared me for a business carer." Mrs. Zacher, a business leacher, commented. "The two-hour course, Administrative Office Lab, provided training for immediate employment as well as affording the college-bound student a part-time skill."

Every month students were selected for doing outstanding work in a certain subject. In business, the following students were chosen for being student of the month: Jim Wood, Joan Higgins, Angela Terborg, Sherry Whitford, Stacy Scholl, Jorie Kramer, and Hannah Schultz. "It was an honor being a student of the month, and I enjoyed going to the Rotary Lunch," commented Sherry Whitford.

AS SENIORS CONCLUDED THEIR FINAL YEAR OF ENGLISH requirements, students traveled through time with the futuristic novel, Fuhrenhein 451, by Ray Bradbury, Lord of the Flies, by William Golding and 1994, by George Orwell were also enjoyed in Mr. Adam's Senior Lit. Class. Mr. Harper's Creative Art Lit. class watched movies such as: Apollo 13, Outbreak, and Field of Dreams, "il's interesting because you get to watch movies instead of reading books," replied Scott Lacey about Creative Art Lit.

In Mr. Adam's class, Juniors spent time reading the book Huck Finn, by Mark Twain, while Mrs. Moolenaar's Junior class battled with The Red Badge of Courage.

Mrs. Price's good sense of humor and relaxed atmosphere made sophomore students seem very comfortable and interested in learning. "I think it's (sophomore lit.) cool. She's (Mrs. Price) a very nice teacher," replied Steph Cochran.

Scout and Jem entered Freshmen's lives from the book To Kill a Mockinghird, by Harper Lee. With deep issues such as racism, envy and harassment, students took a hit of reality. Freshmen also traveled back in time when they read Great Expectations.

From reading to writing, English students learned various ways of society. Although eight credits were required for English, most students didn't mind taking a break from mathematical problems or science labs. "I like to escape in a good book, and it seems like English class is the only time I can read without worrying about other interruptions," said Jenn Peo.

Reading and writing is also preparation for future education. Even if college is not a future goal, English is a major requirement for every day life.

Math... the study of numbers. Not only is it the study of numbers, it also prepares you for the world ahead. To meet the graduation requirements set by the state, students were required to take four semesters of a math course. There were three plans of math from which to choose.

The technical preparation program was designed for students who were planning to move right into the work force. It consisted of pre-algebra classes.

College bound students should have taken the academic classes such as algebra and geometry. There was also an honors program that you could take college classes ahead of time. These classes included discrete mathematics and calculus.

The math department was chosen to receive recognition for improvement from the Indiana School Incentive Program.

Junior Jamison Smith said, "Mr. Hostetler makes the class easy to understand and makes the homework easier. Some parts are fun!"

"Math is fun and Mrs. Sherwood's class is fun, because of how she thoroughly explains our homework," said Nick Boersma.

Ambica Serocinski said, "Mrs. Roberts is a pretty cool teacher. I've learned a lot in her class because she is so strict with homework in all."

"Geometry with Mr. Gray is fun and I have learned a lot in his class," said Amanda Dunlap.

Circling

the World, one step at a time

World History, a subject taught by Mr. Lewis, was generally relevant for collegebound students. If planning on graduating with academic honors, then World History was mandatory. Sophomores and Freshmen were generally taught World History. Learning about such topics as the Renaissance and Leonardo Da Vinci were just some of the subjects dealing with World History.

Government was a required subject in the senior year of high school. As government was only one semester long, it was amazing how much a student learned about cultural events, different forms of government, and political view points. "Government prepared me for voting, and what the election process is all about. It has also kept me in touch with my surroundings by reading current events each day," commented Shellev Gates.

During United States History, subjects discussed were the assassination of JFK, the "New Deal", and the Civil War. Keeping the students interested and captivated was all part of a few teachers' jobs. Dave Walstra commented, "Mr. Hoover makes it so interesting, especially with all of his historical stories."

In Economics, most students would agree that the most valuable thing was the notebook. It was nicknamed by Mr. Post as the "Bible". Many students learned about investing, inflation, and downstring. "I learned many things in Economics, such as leasing, and buying cars", said Ron Cimoch.

On November 16, seniors from all around attended Government Day. It was held at Sain Joseph's College. Seniors heard many state and county politicians. They also listened intently to Charlene Lugar. She spoke on behalf of her husband, a presidential candidate, Richard Lugar. It was at Government Day, when Mrs. Lugar invited any willing students to help campaign in New Hampshire for Mr. Richard Lugar. "Government Day was interesting, because I learned a lot about who our county officers are, and what they do," said

On February 15, seniors boarded a bus to go to New Hampshire. Mr. Hoover and Mr. Lewis were chaperones for the six day trp. Such activities were campaigning door-to-door, and preparing mail-outs. The girls stayed at the YWCA, and the hoys stayed at the YMCA. They took one day out of their trip to go sight-seeing, in Boston. The Freedom Trail, Harvard University, and Cheers were some of the popular attractions. Jenni McAtee commented, "Thad a lot of fun learning about politics, and it was an experience I'll never forget!"

AUF WIEDERSEHEN! WAS THE PHRASE THE seven German students, one teacher, and one chaperone said as they left for a seven day trip to Germany and Austria. Those that participated in this trip were German teacher Mrs. Masten, graduates Davonne Abbring and Paula Zandstra and seniors Amy Wiers and her mother. Kara Zylstra and juniors Angie Karch. Stephanie Barton, and Angela Shuttz.

Junior Angie Karch said "The trip to Germany and Austria was great. Not only did I get a chance to see a whole new culture, but I met new people. For me, it was the best trip I have ever taken." One of the major highlights of the trip was going to Dachau a concentration camp. The group also visited many of the famous castles. The last stop was Salzburg Austria which was Mozart's birthplace. "The classical music concert I attended in Salzburg, reflected the importance of cultural events in Austria and showed me that music really can bridge all the communications gaps." replied Senior Kara Zylstra. This was the perfect way to put to use the things students learned in their classes.

In addition to trips, foreign language students put their language to use in skits, fashion shows, and scavenger hunts. It's become a Christmas tradition for French students to ask the faculty to place one of their shoes outside their door, to be filled with Christmas candy. A fun activity for Spanish students was playing Bingo. The typical day in a foreign language classroom consisted of book work, vocabulary words, and tapes.

Four year programs in French, German, and Spanish were offered. Sophomore Jessica Holobowski said "Madame Carey is like a box of chocolates, you never know what you are going to get."

returning lettermen com bined with 18 seniors to lead the Kougars high hopes of winning the first conference title in the school's history. Some of the returners included two year starting quarterback Bruce Przybylski, and college hopefuls James Broyles and Andrew Spenner.

Two year players who received a lot of pre-season recognition were Frank Zaremba, who kicked a record breaking 53 yard field goal early in the season, and Megan Hartzler, the first female to play on the Kougar football team. "I felt really nervous the first time I kicked an extra point. After that, it became easier to deal with." Hartzler commented.

A poster containing the eight team goals gave the Kougars their inspiration for success. Accomplishing all but two of those goals they defeated Rensselaer in the annual Cracker Barrel game and won the first conference championship in the schools history. [Even though it was a tie between KV, North Judson, and Lowell.] Aaron English commented, "I didn't mind sharing the title with those teams, I'm just happy we got the chance to win it."

In the Kougars first three games, they scored close to 140 points. Senior running back Ryan Armstrong also rushed for more than 390 yards. "I felt that I started the season well, but I didn't finish as well as I should have." Armstrong explained.

ince the offense was doing their job, the defense decided to play their part as well. They finished first in the area in total defense and only gave up an average of less than six points per game. The defense did not give up one point for 14 straight quarters until Rensselaer broke the streak in the third quarter of the game. "I'm glad someone finally scored on us because it took a lot of burden off the defense." commented Senior linebacker Tim Pogue.

Defensive leaders for the Kougars included Junior linebacker Ryan Myers and Senior defensive end/ nose tackle Chris Ritchie. Myers, who recovered very well after an almost career ending injury last season in a junior varsity game, finished the season second in total tackles. Ritchie finished the season with the most total tackles and led the team in fumble recoveries.

McIntire takes a quick breath of air betarting off the year without a pool made things difficult for the girls swim team. The day before their first practice the girls found out the pool needed repairs and would not be ready until after school started.

This did not slow down the team. Instead they just moved their practices to Spencer Park Pool in DeMotte making them the first team in school history to be able to practice in the rain.

"It helped with our training because the pool

(at Spencer's) is longer than our pool. One bad thing about practicing at Spencer's was that the diving board was not as good as ours at school." said diver Mary Ahrendt. Ahrendt also explained how difficult it was to practice diving since the high dive was removed. The high dive was a very important training tool for her even though it was not used for competition.

Shelly Gates broke the 100-yard backstroke record by nine-hundreths of a second. This was one of the highlights of the team's season, which finished with a 3-7 record and third at Conference. After winning the 100 backstroke at Conference Shelly Gates said, "It was a goal I have been working towards for a long time."

Working on form, technique, and improving times were the main goals of the team.

Lacey Smith made her fourth and Amanda Hall made her second trip to the state meet. Despite frigid weather, Amanda and Lacey finished 41st and 47th respectively.

Challenges included running against state ranked teams including Chesterton who became state runner-ups and beating state ranked Andrean and Huntington North.

Plagued with late season injuries, the six member boys team was unproductive in outings which require five runners.

Michael Nannenga felt, "For what we had it was a successful year."

Luke Flory, Keith Wallace, and Justin Shafer, helped the boys to a third place finish at the Conference meet.

Coach Prochno felt that both squads were very competitive and that it was "a matter of quality not quantity" once again.

wo days after Christmas the eight cheerleaders, their mothers, and one grandmother flew to Dallas, Texas for the National Cheerleading Association National Competition.

To make it to Nationals the cheerleaders had to preform a thirty second routine at summer camp and then be selected to go to Dallas. After being selected they had to find a choreographer, raise funds, and "practice, practice, practice."

Arriving in Dallas they checked into their hotel and then spent the night on the town. They took a limo to the West End where they chose a place to eat, a movie, and some shopping. After their fun filled evening, they went straight to bed to rest up for the big day.

The morning of the competition the cheer-leaders had two practices, one was closed to everyone except the girls and coaches, and the second one was open to their family.

Preforming at 6:28, the girls had 15 seconds to get into position, two and a half minutes to perform their routine, and then 15 seconds to get off stage. If a team went over their alloted time they were penalized. Rhonda Hester felt, "The KV team jumped right up there and executed a near perfect routine! It was really incredible!"

Later that day the girls found out that they were 24th and only 11 points away from making it to the final round.

t the beginning of the season many people wrote the Kougars off because of the graduation of three starters from last vear," commented Coach Ford "but adjustments were made and by the end of the year it became obvious they were working. eather was the biggest ob stacel the tennis team had to overcome. Four of their matches were cancelled due to unfavorable weather. "Despite all of the bad weather, I think that everyone played extremely well in their respective positions." commented Allison Fase.

One higlight of the season was the defeat of Lake Station. The Lady Kougars gave the Eagles their first loss of the season.

Receiving awards at the spring sports banquet were MVP- Kara Zylstra, Most Improved- Allison Fase, Kougar Spirit Shelly Gates, Mental Attitude- Megan Hartzler, and Rookie of the Year-Aimee Beougher.

"It (tennis) was a real struggle, but I think we did fairly well considering the talent we had." commented John Kiersma.

The tennis team was very young. Winning only two meets their inexperience showed at times. At the Conference meet the Kougars tied the NJSP Blue Jays for fifth place.

At sectional time the boys didn't advance as a team, but Joey Knutson and Adam Hoffman advanced did. Advancing jin doubles Hoffman and Knutson were eliminated in the first round of Regional play.

peed, power, and experience described the defending sectional champions who were ranked number one in the area according to the Crown Point Times, "We had seven seniors coming back with a lot of varsity experience." Head coach Doug Greenlee said. Kougars were also honored with being ranked in the state as high as 12th. "Being ranked 12th in state was nice, but I think that it made us a little too confident." Senior Jim Holmes commented.

First ten games were rough for the Kougars. They were 6-4 and did not hit well. Many players believed that was due to the weather. The spring was cold, wet, and windy. Not hardly the kind of conditions baseball is to be played in. "It was rough for a while playing in bad weather, but we had to adjust." Senior Kevin Truman-Forehand.

According to Coach Greenlee, there were two team goals; win the conference and advance further in the state tournament than last season. (The Kougars had a disappointing loss to Portage in last years Regionals tournament).

They did accomplish goal number one although it was a tie between KV and Lowell. Goal number two cannot be predicted as of the date of this publication.

Highlights of the season included scoring what might have been a state record 20 runs in one inning against North Judson, winning conference, and having the seventh straight 20 win sea-

"I've played with these guvs since I was 13, and we have had a lot of success together." commented Lacey. This group has accomplished a lot throughout those years. They include winning the district II championship in 13 year old All-Stars, having the first undefeated season in KV history for the JV team, winning sectionals last season, and being a part of the record breaking 23 win season in '95.

Playing college baseball is a goal for many of these players. Przybylski and Truman- Forehand decided to go the junior college route by signing with Parkland College. Pogue decided to walk on the baseball team at Southern Indiana. Armstrong wanted to go to Purdue University. Lacey, Holmes, and Adamczyk were all undecided ithout winning season in their short two year history, the Lady Kougars already had goal number one in mind. They had their first winning season with a 13-8 record including first ever victories over Michigan City Marquette and Whiting. "We had impressive wins over some good teams and played tough against some of the better teams in the area." commented senior Brook Kozak who broke the record for most wins by a pitcher with 8.

"It's going to be tough trying to replace the seniors, but I believe that the underclassmen will step up and do the job." said Coach Flynn, Seniors included Shelly Recker, Tara Bauman, Brooke Spurgeon, Connie Butler, Holly Henson, and Brook Kozak.

Underclassmen also came through and contributed a lot for the Varsity. Freshman Stacy Recker was asked to catch for the varsity squad and did "a good job" according to her teammates. Freshman pitcher Summer Johnson also stepped up by pitching the first no-hitter in softball history against Tri County.

Highlights included sisters Shelly and Stacy Recker both hitting inside the park homeruns in the same game against the defeated Culver Military Academy. They also won their first ever sectional game over Hanover Central by the score of 10-2. Head Coach Flynn was assisted by the JV coach, Coach Benham.

✓ Art Club decorated signs on the windows for all the teachers and staff. They went on a field trip to Navy Pier in Chicago with the journalism classes. Some members worked on sculpture based on the artist David Smith.

"The Field trip to Navy Pier was fun and exciting," Chris Heide.

✓ When they first got to Navy Pier they went to the IMAX theater, to watch the 3D movie "Wings of Courage." The movie was about the first flight over the Andes Mountains, and how the pilot crashed and walked for days most of the time without shoes to get home.

✓ "The 3D glasses ROCKED!" Sara Watson.

✓ The requirements for the David Smith project were, It must be a Geometric shape, at least 5 foot tall, free standing, interesting on all sides, must be cardboard, must reflect industry and our technological society, must be at least one color and no more than three, and it must be done as a group.

PIONEERZ CREED

PIOIIEERZ is a group of approximately 30 students, 15 from Rensselaer Central High School. As young people we collaborate to promote awareness and understanding by opening our minds and hearts for the benefit of our schools, our communities, and of course, ourselves. Futhermore, we of FIONEERZ model our goals by serving others to bring peace where there is discord, conciliation where there is conflict, and understanding where there is ignorance. PIONEERZ, as a group and as individuals, choose to live freely, unencumbered by druge, wrongdoing, or mediocrity. PIONEERZ believe that what keeps us together is more important than what tears us apart; PIONEERZ believe that through hope and action they will promote a better world by striving to be better people.

Drama's fall play:

The Man

Who Came to Dinner

- ✓ Wally Kendall played an old man, Mr. Sherri Whiteside, who freeloaded off very unsuspecting family and disrupted their lives. From faking a fall on the ice...
- ✓ Mr. Whiteside is a clever man who torments John Bell's character, Mr. Ernest Stanley, by running up the phone bill, being a picky eater, letting 1000 Brazilian roaches to multiply in the house, having penguins running around the library, and having an awe struck crazed movie star chasing the poor nurse.
- ✓ The play cast consisted of: Rebecca Chase, Ericka Dreesen, Adam Woolever, Kris Hoffman, Tony Kendall, Stacy Scholl, Kim Woods, Kori Smith, John Bell, Christina Coules, Ann Mikolajczak, Wally Kendall, Sara Kreischer, Jason Bakker, Jeses Talley, Andrew Nannenga, Ben Crotteau, Dustin Schoonveld, Adam Shelton, Shantel Lindberg, Jessica Holobowski, Joey Knudsen.
- \checkmark The set construction crew worked hard in creating an atmosphere from the late 1930's.
- ✓ The lighting and stage crew consisted of: Allison Fase, Cindy Odle, Kenny Abbring, Ann Mikolajczak, Jack Daniels, Adam Woolever, Jason Bakker, Kris Hoffman, Stacy Scholl, Ericka Dreesen, Wally Kendall, Tony Kendall, Christina Coules, Rebecca Chase, Angle Heid, Jesse Talley, Dustin Schoonveld, John Bell, Shantel Lindberg, Kori Smith, D. Andrew Nannenga, Joe Bartlett, Dana Clark, Sherry Whitford, John Lerner, Gavin Bristol, Becky Fox, Jessica Holobowski, Tricia Stubblefield.
- ✓ ...The ending was a surprise because when Mr. Whiteside was on his way out the door he actually fell on a patch of ice, and he really did hurt himself.

Fall Play

Far Left: Being closed into a mummy case by Bajo, (Joey Knudsen) Miss Lorraine Sheldon, (Shantel Lindberg) is speechless.

h Banjo's (Joey Knudsen) attempt to kies nurse Preen (Ericka Dreesen) screams, "PUT ME DOWN !"

Glving Mr. Sheridan Whiteelde (Wally Kendall) a Chrietmae present, Harriet Stanley (Sara Krelecher) the happy looneytune annoys him.

Giving them 15 minutes to take the intolerable Mr. Whiteside out of the house, Mr. Ernest Stanley (John Bell) awaits the cops (Andrew Nannanga, Jeeey Talley) next move.

h spite of Sheridan's inattention, Lorraine Sheldon tries her best to flatter him. Sheridan's scheme to trick Sheldon into becoming a part of his plot to keep his secretary keeps his mind averted from her flattery.

Players perform

Grease

On April 26-27 and May 3-4 at 8 p.m. the KV Theatre Kompany performed Grease.

The script, music, and lyrice for this musical parody about teenage life in the 50's were written by Jim Jacobe and Warren Casey. It has a humorous plot about a shy wholesome girl, Sandy Dumbrowski (Kendra DeVrice) in love with Burger Palace bad boy Danny Zuko (Josh Fernandez). Danny is backed up by the Burger Palace Boys, a super-cool, tough-looking group of high school wheeler-dealers... or so they think.

The Burger Palace Boys included Kenickie (Adam Woolever), with big dreams of his car, "Greased Lightning", not to mention an offbeat sense of humor, Roger (Jason Bakker), a "wanna-be-funny anything-for-a-laugh" type of a guy, Doody (Dustin Schoonveld), who played the guitar and had a juvenile attitude on things; and Sonny (Bryan Bakrevski), a big talker who thinks he's a real lady-killer.

The group of girls who complimented the Burger Palace Boys are the Pink Ladies. The Pink Ladies were a hip-swinging girls' group consisting of Rizo (Jamie Myers), the leader of the Pink Ladies who acted tough, though she was very vulnerable; Marty (Keri Spurgeon), the beauty of the Pink Ladies, who tries a little too hard to be sophisticated; Frenchy (Hallie Apple), a beautician wanna-be; and Jan (Sara Kreischer), a loud and pushy compulsive eater.

Others we met at Kydell High Included Patty Simcox (Mary Ahrendt), the always perky cheerleader; Miss Lynch (Ericka Dressen), an old-maid English teacher, Eugene (Jesse Talley), the physically awkward, guillishe clase valedictorian Chac (Kris Hoffman), the "best dancer at St. Bernadette's" girls' school; Vince Fontaine (Nick Leskiw), a teen favorite disc Jockey at WAXX; Johnny Casino (Wally Kendall), who has his own band at Rydell High; and Teen Angel (Mindy Spenner).

The chorus included Aimee Beougher, Becky Chase, Sara King, Cindy Odle, Martina Plopper, Emily Prange, Stacy Scholl, Becky Schreiner, Angela Thomas, Amber YanKley, John Bell, Joao Felipe, Joey Knudsen and Adam Shelton.

Mr. Mark Ladd and Piper Bakrevski served as the directors, Mr. Bill Darnell led the vocals with assistance from pianists Sandra Tiemens and Diana King, Mr Tim McCarthy directed the pit band, Bob Heid coordinated the technical aspects Randy Kooy led the bullding of the sets and the stage.

Rizzo einge look at me I'm Sandra Dee, while making fun of Sandy.

As Doody learns to play as Josh Fernandez creeps up behind him to join in the singing.

Looking tough, Wally Kendall, Bryan Bakreveki, and Josh Fernandez discuss their plan to fight.

Getting Ready for a new school year to begin, Miss Lynch and Blanche announce the class Valedictorian.

Grease singers

sellout crowd

- ✓ Grease cast performed four nights, to a total crowd of 1400.
- ✓ Cast party was held at the home of Stacy Scholl, a chorus member.
- ✓ Altogether the Grease cast had a total of 32 members involved in getting the play on its way.
- ✓ "I'm glad I got a chance to be in the show. It was a lot of fun and I made a lot of new friends." Jamie Myers
- ✓ " I was so excited when I got the part because I would get to sing and that would be good experience for me." Mindy Spenner
- ✓ "It was really fun doing Grease even though I had to be a nerd (which I found I do amazingly well.)" Jesse Talley
- ✓ "For me, acting is a way to forget who you are and take on a new personality." Dustin Schoonveld

Marti sings about her devotion to her Marine boyfriend.

Sandy relaxes by einging, It's raining on prom night along with the radio.

Explaining her feelings to Sandy, Rizzo sings There are Worse Things I could Do.

After Vince Fontaine announcee the winners of the Hand-Jive, Cha-Cha and Danny receive their prizes.

Taking a break from concentrating on the next show, the band forms a puzzle as they relax in the 100° + heat before getting their uniforms on.

The best of friends make the best of hands. Joe Poole, Alec Chase, Aaron Rogers, Pete Walstra, Chris Hiede, Chuck Poole demonstrate how to be with friends and enjoy a hohby too.

FRIENDS FOR LIFE

Through the years of high school friends are made. Some are kept for years while others drift apart from disagreements, conflicting interests, or even just looking for one's own individuality.

Whatever the case may be, teens realized how much easier obstacles were when there were friends who were trusted not to laugh over the most embarrassing moment as well as a person to lean on during the worst moment. These difficult moments showed how tough life was in the "real world." From freshmen to seniors, friends were what we were lookin" at.

Sharing a touchdown moment Aaron Porter, Tony Soto, and Brian Kaluf give a thumbs up.

Seniors follow 243 roads

To stress free freedom

As the senior class struggled through their last year together, they faced many obstacles along the road to freedom. Although many seniors liked to believe their last year in high school was easy and carefree, they quickly discovered that the road to freedom wasn't a smooth ride.

Ordering Jostens caps, gowns, announcements, senior keys and memory books, and signing the diploma list quickly brought graduation to the forefront.

Long hours were spent filling out applications for SATS, college admissions and scholarships. With deadlines approaching and stress rising, pressures of the last year commenced. In January, laughing, Dustin Bennett replied, "I haven't even taken my SATs yet, let alone applied for college!" March 1st saw overnight express carrying the final FAF (Financial Aid Forms) to the FAF office.

Visiting college campuses, once touted as two free days, were redefined in the handbook as "parent notes". Combined with doing homework and working after school, the 180 days of senior life quickly faded in the shadow of the June 2nd graduation, when senior pressures turned into senior relief.

Winning the fitle of Junior Miss, Brooke Spurgeon awed the audience with Adam Sandler's version of right field.

Juniors hit spotlight

Spotlighting juniors sports was a popular choice. Kate Deardorff commented. "Sports are very challenging, and it's very competitive, but it's all worth it in the end." Kyle Martin explained. "Sports can take a lot out of you, and are time-consuming, but it all pays off."

Two of the more populated clubs were Sunshine Society and Pathfinders. Both offered the opportunity for pupils to come together to help other people, and to engage in social activities.

Another activity was Student Council, which was a way for students to voice their opinion dealing with the school. "Student Council gave me the chance to meet other kids, and to work towards better things for the school," said Shanna Snyder.

Chosen to attend a Youth Conference. Hallie Apple and Mike Nannenga attended a one day conference on December 2, at the University of Indianapolis. Nannenga commented, "If was a great learning experience, especially when Senator Richard Lugar made his speech." Apple explained, "It dealt with many key issues, and was very interesting."

Eager to leave for the dance, Marc Whitney, Candace Stotts, Danielle Pierson, and Corey Dykhuizen stop for just one last shot.

attending the Prom, and most importantly, deciding what direction their future would be headed. Mary Ahrendt commented, "It's difficult to decide where to start, and what to do from there." For most students, this was the first time for taking the SAT's. Also, Juniors needed to start thinking about possible college choices. Corey Dykhuizen said, "Being a Junior means that I'm an upperclassman now, and I'll be out of here in a year."

Juniors won first place for their hall decorations. Kelli Orsburn said. "I'm really glad our class came together, and helped each other out, I hope it is that way for Prom decorations." Juniors also put

When I Must Leave You When I must leave you for a little while-

Please do not grieve and shed wild tears And hug your sorrow to you through the years, But start out bravely with a gallant smile: And for my sake and in my name Live on and do all things the same, Feed not your loneliness on empty days, But fill each waking hour in useful ways, Reach out your hand in comfort and in cheer And I in turn will comfort you and hold you near; And never, never be afraid to die, For I am wasting for you in the sky!

After two harassment stories came out in the newspaper, the student council placed an information box in the library. Class president, Laura Norris said, "I think students should be limited to either a classroom, lunchroom, or bathroom during lunch. This would definitely stop a lot of the harassment that goes on in the hallways."

Acquires friends, knowledge

Taking their first steps into high school, freshmen faced the transition with courage. Class officers began the unification of the Class of '99 with Homecoming activities.

Under the direction of Mr. Lewis, the class officers and volunteers decorated the upstairs hallways and a red car for the parade. Mina Fritze chose Ryan Stan as her escort.

Class officers also collected the class dues and encouraged students to go on the class trip to Great America.

As the year unfolded, classmates remembered Jake Jungels who spent the majority of his year in the home based program. After knee surgery in the fall to remove cancerous tissue, Jungels underwent chemotherapy and rehabilitation, Jungels' undaunted spirit was shown at the Sunshine Dance which he attended in a wheel chair with his good friend Chrissy Thomason.

New Superintendent Brings Change

Dr. J. Brett Lewis received his doctorate in Educational Administration from Indiana State University. Before coming to K.V. he was an administrator in Covington, IN. When asked why he applied for the superintendent's position his response was, "The fact that we are a growing community." His main goal as an administrator is to "focus on the students."

Growth brings Jobs

While the town of Demotte developed, the town of Wheatfield had a plan of its own when Mr. Wilber Hamstra bought Sculley Square and renamed it School Crossing Market Place, bringing convenience to the people of Wheatfield. The strip mall included Tysens and Bargains Galore.

To the west, Valley View Subdivision broke ground on numerous homes which not only made the town bigger but also the school.

New businesses also gave the students the opportunity for more after school jobs. From School Crossing Market Place to Kankakee Valley High School, this is what we were lookin' at.

As the countdown of final days began, students went through a variety of feelings. Seniors had mixed emotions of sadness and anxiety for Graduation. Juniors looked forward to their last year Sophomores looked toward becoming upperclassmen and Freshmen could hardly wait to no longer have the title "Freshmen"

No matter what you were feeling, everyone made memories with new and old friends that will last a lifetime. Though some friendships will fade with time and distance, others will bond to make new memories. Yearbook staff has high hopes that when you open this book it will help to bring a smile to your face. when you remember WHATCHA' LOOKIN' AT!!

On June 4 for one brief moment in time our community served in a "Once in a lifetime opportunity, as a host of the Olympic Games. Ms. Charlene Groet a Junior High School Teacher carried the torch through a section of Jasper county as part of the torch relay. The Olympic Flame traveled 15,000 miles over 84 days in the United States and visited more than 1,200 communities. On July 19 the Flame arrived in the Olympic Stadium in Atlanta to light the Olympic Cauldron, signifying the start of the Centennial Olympic Games.

The Olympic Flame is the symbol that embodies the values and passions of the Olympic Games and the Olympic ideal of global cooperation through peaceful competition. That's what the world and KV were Lookin' At in 1996.
